YALGOO COMMUNITY HALL UPGRADE

We would like to introduce the crew from Thuroona Services. Thuroona Service was engaged by the Shire of Yalgoo to start work on the first stages of the renovations to our beloved Community Hall.

At this point the main focus is on removing all the asbestos from the building both inside and outside making it safer for future use.

The guys still have a few weeks of work, once the asbestos is fully removed a consultant will be brought in to inspect the buildings foundation and assess any damage that may have impacted its structure over the previous years.

YALGOO

RAILWAY STATION UPGRADE

We would like to introduce our contractor Nick Stevenson. He is a heritage stonemason with over 30 years experience in his trade, starting originally in England, before moving to Fremantle.

He has done extensive work across WA including a number of buildings in North WA, Cue and Perth. Two examples of his work are the Cue Railway Building and Fremantle's WA Shipwrecks Museum.

So far Nick has completed the removal of various renders that were added to the building. This has allowed the stonework to properly breath which allows good airflow and help with the impacts of rising damp.

There are large sections of the building that are in very good condition. In these areas Nick is in the process called "pointing and dressing" the stonework. This is to replace and renew the mortar between the stones, and to bring them back to looking almost new. This shift Nick has been working on the veranda area.

We have also found a couple of sources for stone we can use to replace the areas that are significantly worn. This work will commence once the current stage is complete.

One aspect that will be focused on will be bringing the doors and windows back to their glory days. Not sure how we will approach that at the moment but will when we start.

We are stripping down the iron bars and then to paint them ... you can see a comparison. The finished paint work will look even better

We have also started on the veranda wood work with the help of our very own Phillip Hill.

The old girl won't know herself at the end of it all

Have Questions on sustainable water resources in our Shire?

YOU'RE INVITED TO EITHER:

THURSDAY MARCH 30 @ 4PM
YALGOO CORE STADIUM

OR

FRIDAY MARCH 31 @ 1PM
PAYNES FIND COMMUNITY CENTRE

Do you have questions regarding water resources on your property and not sure who to speak to?

The following information sessions have been organized by the Shire of Yalgoo for pastoralists to hear directly from Departments of Water (DWER) & Mining (DMIRS) on issues relating to the sustainability of water supplies from natural aquifers within the Shire.

Thursday 30th March at Yalgoo Core Stadium at 4pm

Friday 31st March at the Paynes Find Community Centre at 1pm

The sessions aim to:

1. Let pastoralists know who they can contact
2. Outline information about the rules & processes if you might have concerns about water resources on your property
3. If you have specific issues / problems you can contact the people after these sessions to discuss the matter further.

The shire wanted to make sure the pastoralists had good sources of information and advice so they can make better decisions in running their properties.
