November 2013

Goo Fest— a celebration of projects for our community

Yalgoo buzzed with activity on Friday 06 September 2013 when the Shire officially opened fourteen community infrastructure projects with a total value of $5.26m.

The Shire has used $650,000 of its own source funds as leverage to attract over $4.5m in funding from state government, federal government and other organisations.

The undercover sport and recreation facility at the Yalgoo Community Hub was the flagship project. This area comprises a unique multi-function facility known as a rage cage which offers a variety of sporting options on the one court such as soccer, cricket, softball, basketball and hockey. The rage cage is complemented by a BMX track, skate park, mini-golf course, netball court and children's playground. Hopscotch and four square areas are marked out on the rubberised surface of the facility. A water playground completes this area, providing a range of healthy activities for all age groups.

Importantly, the facility is open for all to use and we encourage visitors to take advantage of the Yalgoo Community Hub sport and recreation facility. Stop in for a visit, or plan an activity with your school group. If you are bringing a group for structured activities please phone the Shire so we can avoid clashes.

Other projects that were opened included the very welcome Yalgoo Nursing Post which has provided a purpose built facility for medical services. The Shire is particularly proud of the attractive rammed earth executive residence at 48 Gibbons Street, which has lifted the profile of the main street. The first non-transportable home built in decades in Yalgoo, the house is constructed to last many years longer. Rammed earth also has natural insulating properties to keep heating and cooling costs down.

Making up the total of fourteen were a range of smaller projects included refurbishments at the Yalgoo Community Hall, ADSL and exchange upgrade, first stage upgrades at the caravan park including residence, six new drive-through bays and a dump point, crib room at the Shire depot and a range of solar lighting projects including the Yalgoo airstrip. A water-wise reticulation project has greatly improved our ability to keep the town green whilst reducing water use.

Sealing of the Morawa Road has a high community impact and is nearly completed with only 17 kilometres remaining. When fully sealed the road provides direct sealed access to Perth and all weather access to the Super Town of Morawa. Through the efforts of the Shire to attract funding, sealing is expected to be completed five years earlier than planned. Finally, the Yalgoo Cemetery project has shown great respect through tidying up the overgrown area and adding signs, a grave site map, rammed earth niche wall and some all important shade. Extensive research was required to establish the list of graves.

The project opening was followed by two days of community celebration culminating in a revival of the Yalgoo Emu Cup. Although the concert on Friday was rained out we all enjoyed the spectacular fireworks that lit up the sky, interspersed by a lightning show.

The opening of these projects is a milestone, but the Shire is still working to improve community infrastructure.

Projects under way this year include a major upgrade to the caravan park, enhancements to the flag area at Community Park which will include the Aboriginal flag and a war memorial, further sealing of the Morawa Road, and a caravan day parking area at Paynes Find.

The Shire is also designing and costing the Youth and Community Centre and the Volunteer Emergency Services Training and Operations Centre (VESTOC) that will include redeveloping the Shire depot. These are both expensive projects, and the business case must be prepared first to establish the design and the cost. The Shire can then use the business case to apply for funding.

These projects have been made possible by the enthusiasm and hard work of Shire staff, and the support of a forward thinking Council.

The Shire will keep consulting with you, the community, on projects including the town site revitalisation. Watch out for invitations in the Bulldust so that you get to participate in making decisions for your town and Shire.

Joke

Lucky Driver

A police officer pulls over a driver and informs him that he has just won $5,000 in a safety competition, all because he is wearing his seat belt.

"What are you going to do with the prize money?" the officer asks.

The man responds, "I guess I'll go to driving school and get my license."

His wife says, "Officer, don't listen to him. He's a smart aleck when he's drunk."

The guy in the back seat pops up out from under the blanket and says, "I knew we wouldn't get far in this stolen car."

Just then a knock comes from the trunk and a voice calls out, "Are we over the border yet?"

Job Advert

Caravan Park and Tourism Development Manager

*Work in the Outback – only 2 hours
from City and Sea*

This is an exciting new position and just like our tiny outback town, we are looking for a special person (or couple job sharing).

You must love the Australian Outback, but you will also need to have a blend of skills both physical and technical/managerial.

Does this describe you?

- Initiative and experience to develop tourism in Yalgoo
- Capable, happy and friendly with a positive attitude and passion to maintain a caravan park that is always clean, attractive and welcoming to visitors
- Capacity to lift the profile of Yalgoo Caravan Park to coincide with a major infrastructure upgrade
- Capacity to finalise Tourism Council accreditation, arrangements for an online booking system and the operating systems and procedures for the park
- Experience and ability to clean, maintain gardens, handle cash and keep quality records
- Ability to get on well with all people and deal with issues that arise in a positive and constructive way

You will need to be reliable and honest with physical ability to clean and garden, a sound work ethic, computer literacy and excellent communication skills.

Experience in marketing will be highly regarded, as will prior experience in running a successful business and/or senior tourism industry experience.

Weekend work will be required with rostered days off and flexible working hours. An attractive salary of $65,000 p/a plus super is offered.

Housing arrangements are negotiable. Your own on-site van is not essential but would be well regarded during the construction phase (if you provide a van you will have access to an adjacent air conditioned shared kitchen/living area in a fully furnished house for comfort).

To apply please obtain an information package by emailing jobs@yalgoo.wa.gov.au. Applicants are encouraged to contact CEO Sharon Daishe on 08 9962 8042 to discuss the position before applying.

Development News from piP

The official opening of the rage cage and under-cover sports facility

On 6 September the rage cage and under-cover sports facility was officially opened by Vince Catania MP.

The Rage Cage and under-cover sports facility which incorporates a mini-golf course, skate-park, BMX track and playground was a long-time in planning and development but is now a central feature of Yalgoo. Funded by the Department of Sport and Recreation (CSRFF), Department of Regional Development, Royalties for Regions and Variety the Children's Charity, the new facility has already made a huge impact on Yalgoo with the kids loving it and using it every day of the week.

At the opening, Captain Rage-Cage himself appeared, to the surprise of all in attendance and after making a short speech ran a rotating demonstration of all the different sports that can be played in the rage cage and under-cover sports facility.

It was a great day and the rage cage and under-cover sports facility will contribute to the vitality of Yalgoo for many years to come.

Missing Digital Camera

The Eddy of the Road volunteers who provided the school holiday program in the second week of the recent school holidays have lost their digital camera. It went missing on their last night in town when there was the BBQ in Community Park. Can someone please find it and return it to Mata at the hall? A small reward is offered to whoever is responsible for its return. It must have been a mistake where someone took it home thinking it belonged to their family. So if you know where it is please let us know or get it back to us. We don't want Eddy on the Road thinking someone has stolen it...if they do they might not come back to provide holiday programs. That would be very sad as they are so much fun. Thanks for your help!

Yalgoo Town-site Revitalisation Project

Community consultations are coming up for an important shire project. The Shire has engaged Urbis Planning from Perth to develop a town-site Revitalisation Strategy.

Urbis will be here in the second week of December to meet with as many members of the community as possible to get your views on a whole range of things that are important to Yalgoo now, and into the future.

They will be talking to you about beautification of Gibbons street and the highway and what facilities should be available, how all the parks should be used and what amenities and information are available in them and also things like a tourist trail inside and outside of town.

So stay tuned...as soon as we have the dates we'll get some posters up and let you know. There will be a community feed to get as many people involved as possible.

Aboriginal Family Law Services

We had Dianne and Carol from the Geraldton based Aboriginal Family Law Services recently. They were here to promote their service and to see if there was anyone in Yalgoo who might need their support.

The service can assist Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who are survivors of family violence or sexual assault; or non-indigenous people who are survivors of family violence or sexual assault IF it will benefit an indigenous person.

The service provides information, legal advice, negotiation with the other party, representation at Court, finding someone else who can help and they can do it face to face or over the phone.

The service deals with family law matters relating to children's arrangements, violence restraining orders, matters concerning welfare of children and criminal injuries compensation.

The service is at 66 Fitzgerald Street, Geraldton or they can be phoned on 9965 4654.

And of course the service is FULLY CONFIDENTIAL

While she was here, Dianne from Aboriginal Family Law services left a paper on Dadirri which is a special quality, a unique gift of Aboriginal people. Here is Dadirri explained.

'Dadirri' Deep listening explained

Aboriginal people passed on stories orally as they knew no writing. Listening to the story teller was vital to reproduce the story accurately to the next generation of story-tellers.

Deep listening describes the processes of deep and respectful listening to build community—a way of encouraging people to explore and learn from the ancient heritage of Aboriginal culture, knowledge and understanding [2].

Deep listening is also called dadirri in southern Queensland.

[Dadirri] is in everyone. It is not just an Aboriginal thing.—Miriam-Rose Ungunmerr-Baumann, Aboriginal writer [5]

Aboriginal writer Miriam-Rose Ungunmerr-Baumann describes deep listening as follows [1].

“Dadirri is inner, deep listening and quiet, still awareness. Dadirri recognises the deep spring that is inside us. We call on it and it calls to us. This is the gift that Australia is thirsting for. It is something like what you call ‘contemplation’.

When I experience dadirri, I am made whole again. I can sit on the riverbank or walk through the trees; even if someone close to me has passed away, I can find my peace in this silent awareness. There is no need of words. A big part of dadirri is listening.”

“In our Aboriginal way, we learnt to listen from our earliest days. We could not live good and useful lives unless we listened. This was the normal way for us to learn - not by asking questions. We learnt by watching and listening, waiting and then acting.”

“My people are not threatened by silence. They are completely at home in it. They have lived for thousands of years with Nature’s quietness. My people today, recognise and experience in this quietness, the great Life-Giving Spirit, the Father of us all.”

Another part of dadirri is “the quiet stillness and the waiting,” says Ungunmerr-Baumann.

“Our Aboriginal culture has taught us to be still and to wait. We do not try to hurry things up. We let them follow their natural course - like the seasons.”

Dadirri is also used as a prayer, a prayer in the sense of you just feel the presence of the Great Creator.—Miriam-Rose Ungunmerr-Baumann, Aboriginal writer [5]

Dr Laura Brearley, author of the Deep Listening Book, says “deep listening is about tuning in... Deep listening is based on stories, silences and the spaces that lie between. As a research methodology, the practice of deep listening is an invitation into culturally congruent ways of learning and knowing.” [2]

It does wonders for a person to just be still and listen to someone else talk about their life and how they probably came through things. You never know what you’ll learn.—Archie Roach, Aboriginal singer and songwriter [4]

Little House

Diamond pattern of sunshine
Lies on the old house wall
The swaying tops of trees
Out the old window
Perfect silence here alone

The little house a happy home
Sitting on the edge of town
Behind the breakaways
Could tell a lot of stories

She's been here for many years
Little house of wood and tin
Little house of peace
Settled in the bush
