Barbecued whole snapper with lime and chilli

There's nothing better than having friends and family around for Easter and sharing beautiful food. This recipe turns delicious fresh seafood into a wonderful Easter feast.

INGREDIENTS

- 1.5kg whole snapper
- 1 stick lemongrass, trimmed, halved, cut into 5cm lengths
- 4 garlic cloves, bruised
- 6 kaffir lime leaves, torn
- Fresh coriander sprigs,
- Sliced green onion,
- Steamed jasmine rice
- Lime wedges, to serve

DRESSING

- 1/2 cup sweet chilli sauce
- 1/2 cup lime juice
- 1 tsp caster sugar
- 1/3 cup light soy sauce
- 2cm piece fresh ginger, peeled, finely grated
- 1 1/2 tbsp fish sauce
- 2 tbsp peanut oil
- 2 tbsp chopped fresh coriander

Step 1

Preheat a barbecue to medium-high with hood closed. Rinse fish inside and out under cold running water. Pat dry with paper towel. Make 3 shallow cuts, 1cm-deep, in thickest part of each side of fish.

Step 2

Place a large sheet of baking paper on top of a large sheet of foil on a flat surface. Place fish in centre of paper. Fill cavity with lemongrass, garlic and lime leaves. Season fish with salt and pepper. Fold up baking paper and foil to enclose fish, scrunching to secure foil.

Step 3

Barbecue the snapper, with the hood closed, for 30 to 35 minutes, turning halfway, or until cooked through.

Step 4

Meanwhile, make dressing: Combine sweet chilli sauce, lime juice, sugar, soy sauce, ginger, fish sauce, oil and coriander in a jug.

Step 5

Unwrap fish and carefully transfer to a serving plate. Drizzle with dressing. Top with coriander sprigs and green onion. Serve with lime wedges and rice.

On The Beat with Yalgoo Police

From the Officer in Charge

I am very pleased with the standard of the vehicles in our community, which has improved recently in particular so keep up the good work in maintaining your vehicle to a good safe standard. At the station we have been very busy with our normal duties and also developing some community initiatives within the community which I will implement in the near future. A reminder that Easter is fast approaching and we will be out and about conducting traffic patrols at this time, which is traditionally a high risk time on our roads so I urge you all to pay particular attention to your driving to ensure we all have a safe Easter.

Noel Minnock - Sergeant

Do you know where your children are?

Lately there has been a number of what I would call “nuisance offences” where children, some as young as 7 are becoming involved in damaging fences and throwing rocks on to roofs. The cost of repairs is significant and those affected are not prepared to accept this type of behaviour and neither am I. If a child under your care is involved in this type of activity expect a call from myself or one of my officers. So in essence know where your children are and what they are up to.

Road Safety in our school

I am delighted to say that with the support of the Yalgoo Primary School Principal Mr. Hall and his staff we have been able to commence a Road safety Awareness program in the school. 1/C Adrian COMEAGAIN is delivering the program to the students in an informal manner aimed at creating an awareness of road safety issues that affect us all including seatbelts and child restraints. I am excited about the program and I look forward to see it develop, which can only improve your children’s road safety awareness.

Crime Prevention

As I mentioned previously and I can not reinforce enough, your local police rely heavily on your input to make our community a safer and better place to live. If there is something going on that you know is not right I encourage you to report it so I can do something about it.

I wish you all a nice Easter and keep safe.

Principal's Message

Welcome back to a new year at Yalgoo Primary School.

As we start the new year we welcome a new member to our staff.

Miss Louise Marriott will be taking the Kindy/PrePrimary/Year 1 class. Welcome to Yalgoo, Louise, we hope you will enjoy your time here.

I would also like to welcome back all the staff who were with us last year and hope we will continue to work towards the improvement of the students.

As you will see from the newsletter we have appointed Student Leaders from among the pupils and we hope that they will take their responsibility seriously and be role models for the younger students.

Please make a note of the important dates in this newsletter and we hope to see more parents and family members coming along to Assemblies and other events to celebrate the successes of our students.

Attached to this newsletter is some important information for parents/carers on the type of behaviour we will not accept at school and the consequences for these behaviours. Please take the time to read them carefully and discuss them with your children.

Lets work together to make our school a place where the students are able to learn in a safe and respectful environment.

Thank you
Tom Hall

Head Lice Alert

Help us get rid of this problem. Children find it difficult to concentrate on their work and get a good nights sleep if they are constantly scratching.

What to do.

- Wash the child's hair.
 - Apply a generous amount of conditioner (Cooking oil works also works well)
 - Comb the hair using a nit comb.
 - Wipe comb on a piece of white cloth or paper.
 - Repeat until no more lice are combed out.
- Please check your children regularly and treat them if necessary.

GOOD HEART 2013 KICKS OFF WITH CALL FOR WORKS

Good Heart 2013 was launched in Geraldton today, with a call for the region's Indigenous artists to prepare their contribution for this year's exhibition.

In its sixth year, the OPR Good Heart Mid-West Aboriginal Art Project showcases traditional and contemporary works by emerging and established mid-west artists to a metropolitan audience.

It's estimated more than 20,000 people have viewed the works of mid-west artists since Oakajee Port and Rail introduced the project in 2008.

"The quality and reputation of the work coming out of the mid-west is now being recognised at a State, national and international level," OPR Crosslands Chief Executive John Langoulant AO said.

"Works are usually quickly snapped up, making their way into both WA and overseas collections.

"More importantly, the project is helping support a sustainable Indigenous arts industry for the region and providing significant exposure for emerging and established artists."

This year, the main exhibition will be staged in Perth's CBD from 10-14 June. A preview will be hosted by Geraldton Newspapers Pty Ltd in conjunction with the City of Greater Geraldton Regional Library from 13-27 May.

Works including canvas, ceramics, woodwork, artefacts and textiles must be submitted for consideration by Wednesday 1 May, 2013.

Emerging and previously exhibited artists interested in submitting works can contact Nan Rickards on 0417 184 290 or email nan.rickards@bigpond.com.

The Mid West Development Commission continues to lead the development of plans to raise the profile of the region's Indigenous arts community. OPR and other Good Heart supporters work closely with the MWDC to deliver on its vision.

Realising the full potential of the local arts industry requires appropriate support to artists through strong and viable arts centres including the Yamaji Art Gallery, Geraldton Wirnda Barna Artists in Mount Magnet and the Tjukurba Art Gallery in Wiluna.

Oakajee Port and Rail's (OPR) vision is to deliver an integrated bulk iron ore supply chain for the mid-west – through the construction of a deepwater port 24km north of Geraldton, and a 570km railway, servicing the region's emerging mining operations.

Community & Youth Development News from Pip

Camp Kalbarri – Book your place!

The Shire Bus is heading for Kalbarri for a 4 night camp at the PCYC, leaving on Friday 26 April and returning on Tuesday 30.

This camp is mainly for the kids but note that any child under 8 years old must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

We'll be fishing and abseiling and canoeing and all sorts of other great stuff so if you want to come then let me know as soon as possible so we can make all the travel and accommodation arrangements.

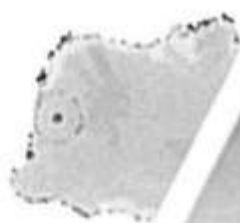

Conversion to Digital TV in Yalgoo

Well, believe it or not we are still waiting for the technicians to come to Yalgoo to start the process of installing our Satellite dishes and connecting the set top box to our TVs. Unfortunately I still can't give you any idea exactly when they will be here but just like I said last month... it should be soon.

And just another little reminder, when the installers come to do the work, you do not have to pay the $250 that was advised in the letters you received recently. The Shire has an arrangement with Skybridge to pay the $250. No Yalgoo household has to pay this amount. So DO NOT PAY ANYONE ANY MONEY FOR THIS WORK. If they ask, tell them to come and see me at the Community Hall or to go the Shire.

And as with last month, for those of you who have not registered for the digital conversion, Don't worry! It is not too late. Come and see me at the Community Hall and we can get your house organised.

Inter

The Yalgoo Interagency

The Yalgoo Interagency is up and running on the first Monday of every month starting at 1.30pm.

The Interagency gives you the opportunity to come and tell a whole mob of government and community workers, (mainly from Geraldton), what services Yalgoo needs. It could be about services for kids, for oldies, for families, for the sick, or to do with sport or education of jobs or whatever. If you have something on your mind and you want someone to know about it then the Interagency might be the place for you.

Don't be shy...come along and have your say!

Child Car Restraints

As reported earlier in the year, the Shire and Centacare are running a child car restraint project with the aim of making it safer for families in Yalgoo to transport their young children. In WA, the law states that all children under 7 years of age are required to be in an approved child restraint while traveling in a vehicle.

We now have 24 restraints made up of baby capsules or for the older kids, boosters. If you have a child under 7 years old and you need a capsule or a booster then come and see Mata or Pip at the hall so we can register your interest.

"BOOKS IN THE HOME"

Centacare has received its first allocation of books from BOOKS IN THE HOMES (term one) for our 0 – 3 year old's. My apologies mum if I have missed your name, can you please contact me on 08 99628207 to get bubs books ordered.

"On the 6th February of every year New Zealanders of all ethnic backgrounds and creeds gather to commemorate the first signing of the Treaty at Waitangi. The Treaty of Waitangi is an historic document which clarifies the rights of the Maori people and the European settlers that lit the way to New Zealand nationhood, which Waitangi Day celebrates. Under the terms of the Waitangi Treaty, the Maori people agreed to accept British sovereignty. They in turn were granted citizenship and land rights. Today Waitangi Day is celebrated by New Zealanders both Maori and Pakeha (Kiwis) throughout the world".

"It was great to see a good turn-out from the local families of Yalgoo at the Waitangi Day celebrations held at Maitland Park in Geraldton on Saturday 16 February 2013. A fun family day of entertainment for all. Music, dance (Kapa Haka) and (kai) food, food and more food, the hāngi and raw fish were superb. A huge thank you to the Shire for the use of the bus."

"TENĀ RĀ KOUTOU KATOĀ"

Another Chance

The blue sky stretched for miles in a wide open arc, the sun shining constantly day after day.

Suzie, out in the garden with baby Mark, was sad, she was thinking of home and her reasons for going. She felt trapped in this new home, it was so vast, not at all like she'd expected, it was also so lonely.

When John had got the job overseas it had been so exiting, an adventure that they could share. The reality was so different, that it physically hurt, an ache in her heart for those she missed. There was also the lack of transport, not like at home. She'd been used to the trains and buses coming by often and lots of taxi's that came when you needed them.

She remmembered last week, trying to get a taxi to the high school for her eldest, Emma, it had made her late for her appointment. "Not a good first impression," she'd thought at the time. It was lucky that the Principal was understanding, she'd had the same problems when she'd emigrated.

"That's another thing that suprizes me," thought Suzie, as she sat watching the baby crawl on his rug. "The amount of immigrants in Perth, I don't think I've met a west Australian native yet." Suzie had been in Perth for six months and hadn't made any real friends yet. It was hard to break in and she was feeling very low-spirited and longing for a friendly face.

John had got quite well in with a group at work and was having a few late nights, he was also drinking more which was another problem. Suzie had tried to talk to him about it but he always shrugged it off, "I'm just fitting in," he said, "they all drink after work here and I'm not going to try and change them".

That evening after supper Suzie sat stroking the cat, a little stray who'd wandered into her life, wondering about how she could change her life. The cat purred contentedly on her knee as she considered her options.

Another Chance(2)

John was sitting out in the kitchen doing some last minute studying for his exam next day, the baby was asleep and the eldest doing her homework.

The house was silent and still, except for the odd cough(John) and the purring of the cat.

Suzie thought about the things she needed to do. "Firstly learn to drive, we can afford it and also to buy another car, I wonder how he'll react," she mused, "I think I'll try him out".

"John," she rose, placing the cat carefully on the sofa, "how would you feel about me taking driving lessons".

He looked up from the books he was buried under, "I think its an excellent idea, I wish you'd do more for yourself as I can't do it all", he replied, "in fact, when you've done that you can take evening classes, if you'd like, Mark won't be a baby forever".

"What, I thought you wanted me to be a stay at home person", Suzie retorted in suprise, "when we got married you said I'd never have to go to work".

"Yes, but I've realized that times are changing, I've no right to stop you doing as you wish. We'll have to organise a timetable though and fit it around my job, is that ok".

"Yes", said Suzie, in a rush of excitement, "that's great, I didn't think that you'd be so good about it".

John got up and put his arm around her, "I've noticed how upset you've been lately", He said, "I'm going to cut back on the nights out and start taking you places again, we should be able to find a babysitter".

Suzie started to cry, she hadn't felt so good in ages. John hugged her tightly and they fell to discussing ways of changing their lives to forfill both their needs.

The next morning a cheerfull Suzie rang the driving school and arranged for lessons, after which she took a walk with Mark, in his stroller, to the licensing branch. Soon she was back home with her provisional drivers licence in her hand.

At twenty-nine years old, she had another chance at life.
