1. Introduction

1.1 Overview of Emergency Risk Management –Initial assessment

Emergency risk management (ERM) is a process that involves dealing with risks to the community arising from emergency events. It is a systematic method for identifying, analysing, evaluating and treating emergency risks. Risk treatments include prevention and preparedness as well as provision for response and recovery should an emergency event occur.

The Shire of Yalgoo has produced an initial risk analysis from known threats and past emergency events both in Yalgoo and at a regional level. They are by no means conclusive and only act as a guide to future endeavours within the ERM process.

It is envisaged that with appropriate grant funding the LEMC will process further information to detail the risks identified and create a more conclusive risk statement schedule. This information will be integrated together to develop the risk treatment schedules that form part of the Yalgoo Emergency Management Plans

1.2 Risk Evaluation Criteria

Criterion 1.

Any reasonably preventable event resulting in loss of life is unacceptable.

Criterion 2

Any reasonably preventable event resulting in serious injury is unacceptable.

Criterion 3

Any reasonable preventable matter that will affect the health and well-being of the Community would be considered as unacceptable.

Criterion 4

Any reasonably preventable activity or incident that will have a medium to long term, or permanent effect on the environment is unacceptable.

Criterion 5

Any reasonably preventable activity or accident that will cause closure or seriously disrupt normal business activity is unacceptable

Criterion 6

Any reasonably preventable activity or accident that will cause closure or seriously disrupt Community lifelines or services is unacceptable.

Criterion 7

Any reasonably preventable activity or accident that will have long term or permanent effects on the cultural assets and values of the Community is unacceptable

2. Risks Identified

The Shire of Yalgoo is has been subject to the following risks identified through past experiences both local and regional, as well as events that have appeared on a world stage that Yalgoo, even though isolated, are still not immune. These could result in a disaster or major emergency situation requiring all or part of the Shire's resources, and maybe that of others, to overcome.

Rural Fire

A seasonal threat principally during the months of November to April

Urban Fire

Property fires occurring within Yalgoo are dealt with by the YVBFB as no town sites within Yalgoo are gazetted fire districts for which FRS are responsible for (Fire Brigades Act).

Storm / Flood

A seasonal threat principally during the months of January and February.

Cyclone / Tornado

A seasonal threat principally during the months of January and February where cyclone aftermath could effect Yalgoo.

Major Building Fire and Explosion

Besides household fires, industrial and commercial buildings which do not have fire detection systems pose a threat.

Hazardous Materials Incident

Could result from a road accident or industrial site accident. This could pose a real threat to transport routes in and around the Yalgoo Shire area. .

Transport Accidents

The Shire has within it two major arterial roads and many other roads that carry the complete range of vehicles transporting cargoes and numbers of people.

Exotic Animal Disease – Bio Security

This threat could threaten livestock through the pastoral areas. This threat could arise from the contamination of water supplies or food products, or viral infection.

3. Risk Statement Schedule

Through the local and regional history, there is a possibility for five major risks evaluated using the EMA risk qualitative matrix method. The following risk statement schedule was formulated and consequentially Risk Treatment Schedules were formulated.
